

The Daily Courant.

Tuesday, September 24. 1747.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Sept. 23.

Dresden, September 18.

TH E King of Poland our Elector has named several Persons of Quality to go to augment the Train of the Electoral Prince, who is still at Leipzig. Some are of Opinion, that the Report of the Indisposition of that Prince, was only a Pretence for waiting the Success of a certain Treaty now upon the Carpet, between the Emperor and his Polish Majesty. Baron de Bone is return'd from Holland, and General Schwerin is come from France, and suppose he has come. It is the common Opinion, that the Czar of Muscovy will be sent to Paris to speak with the King.

From the Amst. and Lier. Gazette, and Hague Courant, dated Sept. 18, 17.

Dresden, Sept. 21. The last Advice from Danzick tell us, that by the Mediation of the Prince of Culm, and other Polish Estates, that City has made an Agreement with the Russians, by paying them a certain Sum of Money, and giving them Cloathing for 10000 Men. Whereupon Prince Dolhorucki has already given Orders for the free Passage of Ships, Waggon, &c. The Dutchess Dowager of Saxe Eylenbach died the 11th of this Month at Alstedt in Thuringen, in the 47th Year of her Age. Notwithstanding the repeated Opposition made by the Pope's Nuncio, the King of Poland our Elector, persists in theLeave he has given for Celebrating the Lutheran Jubilee, which will last three Days successively.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Sept. 23.

Hamburg, Sept. 24. Three Hamburg Ships from England and France were Yesterday stopp'd by the Danes at Gluckstadt, and the Day before another was fired upon to make her come in, but she got off to Schwinge, where the Danes by their Sloops boarded her, and took off the Master and all his Merchants Men or no, and carried them to Gluckstadt; but in regard that this was done in the Territory of Bremen, they of Staden sent 50 Men, who rescued the Ship, and seiz'd the Danes that were upon her, declaring they would hold them till the Master and Seamen are again delivered on board their Ship. But we now hear by the ordinary Passage Boat from Gluckstadt, that all those Ships are releas'd. We had already been under Apprehensions, that the Danes had some Design of making Pretensions against this City, and a Report is spread, that their Troops are order'd to enter the District of Eutin, on Occasion of the Revenues of the Muhlenhoff, and the Houses belonging to it in this City, which formerly belong'd to the Holstein Counsellour of State Calisen, and now possell'd by the Danish Master of Horse M. de Vierck, the Rents wherof, for the four Years past that the Danes have had Holstein, have not been paid. And now the Danes demand the Arrears for Vierck, as the Holsteiners do for the Heirs of Calisen, and both Parties have brought Executions. The Demolition of the Fortifications of Wismar is industriously pursued: All the Works without the Old Wismar, Lubeck, Mecklemburg, and Pohler Gates, are already levell'd with the Ground, and the Ditches are all fill'd up with Earth, so that Men pass over dry-foot. The Burghers in the Newenkloster Division, are forc'd to send daily 300 Men to the Work, and the Danish and Prussian Troops together furnish 600. They are now removing the Artillery from the Walls, and collecting the Materials the Magistrates are to furnish for blowing up the new Works, and then the Whale-fish Fort will be entirely ruin'd; and 'tis thought, that by the End of the Winter the Demolition will be compleated. The Duke of Mecklemburg hath established an Order, forbidding all Persons under great Penalty, to carry off any of the Goods of the Nobility, and the Waggon are strictly watched, and often visited to prevent it. 'Tis said the Czar and the King of Prussia are endeavouring to restore a good Understanding between that Duke and his Nobility.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated Sept. 23.

Cologne, Sept. 17. The most serene Electress Dowager Palatine, departed the 10th of this Month from Dusseldorf, to return to Florence. She arrived that Night at Warth, where she was receiv'd by his Electoral Highness of Cologne, who came thither some few Hours before to wish her a good Journey, and afterwards return'd to Warth. His Highness has been absent ever since, and the next Day proceeded on her journey towards Francfort, where she arriv'd the 14th, and was welcom'd by the firing of the Cannon upon the Walls.

From the Leid. and Amst. Gazette, dated Sept. 23.

Breda, Sept. 13. The States of Brabant were lately assembled here, but they separated without being able to terminate divers Affairs that lay before them. In the mean time, the Marquis de Prie通知 to them, that the Emperour has con-ferr'd to the Re-union of the Province of Limburg to that of Brabant. His Excellency infus'd very much, that the Homage to be made to the Emperour as Duke of Brabant, should be solemniz'd the 10th of next Month; but there is little Appearance that the Preparations necessary to it can be finisht so soon. A certain Banker of Antwerp, whom the Czar of Muscovy has made his Agent in this Court, presented Yesterday his Credentials to the Marquis de Prie. 'Tis said that two Imperial Regiments, who are now in the Austrian Netherlands, are order'd to hold themselves ready to march for Italy, and that they will be replace'd by two others in regiments that suffer'd most in the Battle near Belgrade.

From the Paris News Letter.

Paris, Sept. 20. They write from Venice, that on the 10th instant they received Letters from the Captain General, dated at Corfu, which advise, that the Turks were assembling a body of Troops, and they having Cannon with them, they have Reason to fear they may have form'd a Design to besiege that Place (Corfu,) which Suspicion was augmented by the Neighbourhood of their Fleet, which approach towards Zante, in Number 48 square Stern'd Ships, eight Gallies, and four Galliots or half Gallies. The Fleet of the Republick was not yet repair'd, however, M. Diedo was sent out towards Zante with 26 Men of War, to make a Shew at least of opposing their Design; but he was order'd to avoid Fighting. He adds, that two or three Ships which were not in Condition of keeping the Sea, remain at Corfu, and will be sent back to Venice; and that at last they have received Advice, that the Ship St. Pio, that was missing, has been found by the Portuguese and conducted to Reggio; and that for himself, he was preparing to sail with the Gallies to Santa Maura, to see if he could by his Presence divert the Turks from making an Attack upon that Place.

BELGRADE. A Poem.

To Souls like these in mutual Friendship join'd;

Heaven dares entrust the Cause of Human-kind.

Printed for J. Roberts near the Oxford-Arms in Watford, Price 6d.

The Empress of China's Majesterial Dentifrice, or Royal Indian Teeth-Powder, which is a Thing to Remark, Odorous, and Fine, that in all the Cities of Europe there is rarely found any thing comparable to it. It makes the Teeth White like the driven Snow in a Moment, and the Breath sweet, like the Scent of the Musk-Rose and Violets; It cleanses the whole Mouth from the Scurvy and all Fihth, and preserves the Teeth from all Decay! Loosenes, and ill Smell. It relieves the Gums, giving them and the Lips an admirable Coraline Lustre; and by invigorizing the Mouth with its lively and transporting Flavour, it gives Air and Charm to the Countenance also, as many Noblemen and Ladies have offered, to their exceeding great Satisfaction. It is indeed a thing fit for Princes. Sold in fine Indian Boxes, price 1 s. 6d each, at Mr. Brown's, a Sparkle-maky, in the North-Gate of the Royal Exchange, and at the Tin-Shop under the Caffe Tavern in Fleet-street.
